
Title: What is to Come.

Author: Jared Singh Ishbar

1 And so it shall come that the Temple that weeps for the past
shall shed no more
tears.

2 Amongst the sands
of Compassion where only the strong

survive only the strong shall be recognized.

3 For in the times
after Honor has died
and been reborn shall come a darker force
indeed.

4 He who forgets will be destined to remember and all
shall remember that which they had wished to forget with the coming of the Dread Master once

again.

5 On a night like no
other he shall return
and those who fled the virtues shall swear to him in hopes of revenge, glory, and a twisted sense of

Honor. All Honor to the First.

6 They shall ride
forth unto battle
against all and all shall tremble. They will face many a trial
and shall be left with

only those who truly serve the Master.

7 From the

everlasting Chaos of Fire shall come the Daystealer to bring Night to all who oppose him and any member of his brotherhood.

8 Those who relish in
the blood of others
shall heed his call
and use their skill of death for Him.

9 They shall face the Bowels of Hell and the Eyes of a Balron to find the way to release the Love of Mondain.

10 The one who trades
will trade souls to serve the Great Master.

11 The Brother of Night shall follow his family to slay others
as he has slayed his own.

12 Hope shall fall in the name of Mondain

and shall be brought upon the world by He and his Kin.

12 Solitude shall be found inside the Temple that houses
the Dark Messiah,

and only there will
true power be given to those who wish to change the course of destiny itself.

13 Pain forgotten
becomes pain reborn
for all those who would test the patience of Time.

14 Black like His eyes
the rock shall be, and found with it a darker
hope indeed.

15 From the past a

Old Brother shall be made new.

16 One who seeks to gain the knowledge of Mordain shall fall in shame before he can ever rise.

17 The Dark Heart
leaves only to return.

18 The Brothers
retire from the sea to once again seek out the wisdom of Mondain.

19 Dark times give way to a evil light as
the past comes again to bring new glory to

mondain.

20 The Dark Wolf
turns to a wounded
cub in the face of the Desert Storm of Mondains Anger.